

HARDING'S PARTY IN TRAGIC MISHAP

ONE MEMBER OF PRESIDENTIAL KILLED AT DENVER

AUTO OF PRESIDENT IN A 75-FOOT PLUNGE

Takes Drop Over Embankment With Members of Party Returning From Mountain Trip.—President Not In Accident.

Denver.—Tragedy stalked among members of the president's official party here, resulting in the death of one member of the group and the driver of the automobile assigned to the use of the president himself, and the injury of two others. The dead are:

Sumner Curtis, Washington, D. C., Republican national committeeman, and close friend of the president.

Donald Craig, Washington manager of the New York Herald bureau, assigned to the president's Alaskan trip, and Thomas Dawson, curator of the Denver museum, were seriously injured.

The accident was caused by the overturning of the automobile in which the party was returning from a Bear Creek Canyon trip, where a trout dinner had been provided by the local committee. The president did not go on the trip.

The machine was a seven-passenger car of an expensive make, assigned to President Harding for the day and carried the label number "two" which is always carried on the car in which he rides.

Official report on the accident says that the steering gear of the car broke just as it reached a dangerous point in the mountain road known as "Looking Glass Curve." The driver lost control and the front wheels of the car struck a double cable fence, causing the car to plunge down a seventy-five foot embankment, rolling over and over before reaching the bottom.

Curtis and French were dead when other members of the party went to the rescue. Craig was found to have suffered severe lacerations of the head and his back was sprained, but he was conscious. Dawson was more seriously hurt, his injuries consisting of several broken ribs and a wrenched back.

At the county hospital, to which Craig and Dawson were taken, it was said that both will recover. Craig will be compelled to remain there, however, and can not continue with the party on the president's trip.

President Harding was deeply affected upon receiving news of the tragedy. He immediately cancelled all engagements for the evening, including a dinner that had been arranged for him at the home of Senator Phillips. He expressed great concern for the recovery of Craig and Dawson, both of whom were well known to him, Dawson having been executive clerk while the president was in the senate.

BOMB UNDER AUTOMOBILE SEAT KILLS AT LONG BEACH

Long Beach.—Lemuel Farris Van Tassel, 37, oil worker, was instantly killed when, what police believe was a bomb concealed under the upholstery of his automobile, exploded as he attempted to lift out the front seat cushion.

After interviewing Van Tassel's wife, who was formerly Mrs. Margaret Engmann and who became Mrs. Van Tassel a month ago, members of the county homicide squad and Long Beach detectives are out to find her former husband, Ed Engmann of Fullerton. Mrs. Van Tassel's story, they said, led them to believe Engmann knew something about the alleged bomb explosion.

The explosion occurred in the rear of the Van Tassel home while Van Tassel was cleaning and washing the car. His stepdaughter, Gertrude Engmann, 4, was helping him. A few seconds before the blast he sent the child into the house, to ask for clean rags. The little girl had just passed through the kitchen door when the explosion came, killing Van Tassel and throwing the neighborhood into a panic.

A piece of copper tubing filled with steel slugs, similar to several fragments of metal found in the victim's body, led detectives to characterize the case as one of "bomb homicide."

General's Daughter Executed

London.—Miss Brusiloff, daughter of General Brusiloff, commander of the Russian red army, has been executed at Moscow for concealing church treasures. In consideration of her father's military services she was offered a pardon, but refused it, saying: "I cannot accept mercy at the hands of the executioners of the Russian people."

POLICE CONVICTED IN LIQUOR CONSPIRACY

Lieutenant and Two Patrolmen Face
Prison Terms and Heavy Fines.—
Jury Deadlocked for Ten Hours Before Decision.

San Francisco.—A jury in Federal Judge Fleet's court found Lieutenant of Police D. H. Brasfield and Patrolmen Mark M. Williver and William Barlow guilty of a charge of conspiring to violate the prohibition law. The maximum sentence is two years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The defendants were charged with having been implicated in the activities of seven civilians who were arrested at a wharf in South San Francisco several months ago while smuggling liquor ashore.

When prohibition agents took into custody the three policemen and the civilians the police officers declared they already had arrested the civilians and denied they had had any prior knowledge of, or share in, the handling of the liquor.

During the trial the prosecution charged it had in its possession evidence tending to establish that efforts had been made by the accused officers to intimidate witnesses for the government into altering their testimony.

When the jurors returned their verdict Attorney John Preston, legal representative for the policemen, gave notice of appeal. The three officers accepted the verdict of the jury calmly.

Four hours before making known their verdict the jurors informed the court they were divided hopelessly 9 to 3.

Judge Van Fleet refused to accept this declaration of inability to agree and, after expressing belief that the evidence had been so clearly set forth that it should be possible for an agreement to be reached said he would insist the jurors give the issue further consideration.

SET DATE FOR HEARING ON PULLMAN COMPANY SURTAX

Chicago.—Hearings on the surtax on Pullman fares, which the U. C. T. association seeks to have abolished, will be held in San Francisco July 10 and in Portland, Maine, July 21. The findings of the three hearings will be reviewed in Washington and no action is expected to be made effective before the end of the year.

At the hearing here representatives of the railroads declared that while there had been only a very slight increase in passenger traffic, Pullman business had increased considerably more. It was their contention that the added space and luxury of Pullman travel justified the surtax of 50 per cent, which goes to the railroads.

U. S. DRYS RAID TWO BRITISH LINERS.—SEIZE LIQUOR

New York.—Following eleventh hour instructions telegraphed from the treasury department, the United States customs authorities here boarded the Cunard liner Berengaria when she docked at the foot of West Fourteenth street, broke the British customs seals on a supply of liquor in the ship's storeroom and officially seized it.

Prohibition authorities were told to give the captain of the ship a receipt for the wet supply, and to hold all of the liquor pending further word from the treasury about disposition.

JAPAN FIXES TERMS OF RECOGNITION OF RUSS SOVIET

Tokyo.—Japan will not grant recognition to the Russian Soviet government unless Russia settles with Japan for the massacre of Japanese at Nikolaievsk and recognizes the debts of the czarist regime. These are the same demands which Japan made at the opening of negotiations with Russia looking toward recognition and a trade agreement.

Foreign Minister Uchida also said that Japan is considering plans for cooperation with the other world powers to safeguard railway operations in China.

Claims New Paralysis Cure

Vienna.—A sensational medical discovery for cure of paralysis is claimed by Professor Wagner, a well known Austrian specialist, who in reporting to the Vienna Medical Society, said the new therapeutical treatment already has shown important practical results. Out of 300 patients treated, he said, there was a large percentage of complete cures.

To Command Pacific Marines

Washington.—Major General W. C. Neville, assistant commandant of the Marine corps, has been detailed to command the department of the Pacific, with headquarters at San Francisco, to relieve Major General George Barnett, who is soon to retire. Brig. Gen. Logan Feland, in charge of training, will be promoted to assistant commandant.

The subject was "What America Can Do for World Peace" and the prizes were given by the College Park Peace Committee represented by Arthur B. Heeb, who spoke briefly in making the presentation. Ernest J. Cuthbertson spoke to the assembly on what the American child can do for peace.

The program was closed by patriotic songs.

HOLD FOOD SALE FOR LIBRARY FUND

A food sale will be held Saturday morning, June 30, at Miller's Store under the auspices of the Country Woman's Club to replenish the treasury. The help of the general public is asked as the money raised is all used in keeping the Library and Reading Room open.

Since the office of Justice of the Peace has been taken away from Campbell the club has lost the rent of the building which was a substantial part of the yearly funds from which the club pays for the up keep of the room and part of the librarian's salary. The club has always met this responsibility without asking aid of the community, but it is not alone their duty and privilege but that of all the community. Kindly send your donations to the Miller Store as early Saturday as possible.

BATTERY STATION HERE

Some months ago C. W. Shumway bought the lot between the I. O. O. F. Hall and the Service Garage and announced that he would put up a building and install a battery service station. A little later he gave up the idea and again advertised the place for sale.

Wednesday operations were started on the ground and inquiry of the owner elicited the information that he had exercised a woman's privilege, changed his mind and was going to put up the battery station after all. We will have a more complete write up of the new business later.

PRESIDENT APPOINTS CLUB COMMITTEES

Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, president of the Country Woman's Club has named her committees for next year:

Reading Room: Mrs. Ellen R. Smith, Mrs. Helen Dodge, Mrs. Lillie F. Shaw.

Lot: Mrs. J. C. Ainsley, Mrs. W. S. Shelly, Mrs. C. W. Sutter.

Membership: Mrs. R. H. Hyde, Mrs. Ernest Barron, Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Mr. Ernest Barron has returned from his eastern trip in the interests of the Barron-Gray Co. of San Jose.

The Chico State Teachers College summer session opened at Lassen with prospects of filling the quota of 300.

E. E. Frasier, Glenn county agent, is to assume the additional duties of county farm advisor, says report.

Grass Valley endorsed a $100,000 bond issue for street improvement by a vote of nine to one.

Rev. C. H. Lake, Episcopal rector at Red Bluff, has accepted a position at Richmond, Texas.

CHURCH SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

One of the loveliest of June weddings was solemnized Thursday, the 21st at 8 o'clock, when Miss Catherine Cooper, daughter of Charles Cooper, became the bride of Edward Blair.

The marriage took place in the Congregational church, Rev. W. E. Eckles reading the service.

The choir rail had been transformed into a beautiful screen by the liberal use of "Queen Anne Lace", brightened with the glowing color of the Tritoma Hybrida and the fragrant spikes of the "Butterfly Bush." Tall floor vases at each side, held artistically arranged bouquets of pink gladioli, delphinium and gypsophila.

Partially concealed by the flower screen, Mrs. Arthur Gilman sang very beautifully, "O Promise Me" accompanied by Mrs. Chas. Thompson at the organ.

Then to the Lohengrin Wedding March the bridal party entered, Rev. Eckles and the groom, accompanied by his best man, Lawrence Montgomery, a U. C. classmate from Oakland, took their places at the altar to await the bride.

Streamers of white were looped from seat to seat of the center aisle and the high side rails of each seat bore a white covered flower basket tied with pale pink tulle and containing sweet peas and corn flowers in the pastel shades of pink and blue, with white.

Up this aisle the bridesmaid, Miss Nannette Ellison advanced, followed by the dainty little tots, Ellen Jane Donahue and Edna Marie Evans, carrying flower baskets. Miss Cooper was attended by her father who gave her into the keeping of her betrothed at the altar.

White crepe de chine was fashioned into the beautiful wedding gown, which was trimmed with bertha of silk lace and enhanced with a long veil of tulle, pleated bonnet style and bound to the head with a fillet of ribbon and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was an exquisite arrangement of white roses, lilies-of-the-valley and maiden hair with white ribbon streamers and white satin bow.

Miss Ellison wore rose crepe de chine and carried pink roses and ferns.

Elizabeth Turner, Hazel Greene, Harriet Dunphy, Verna Cutting and Frances Duncan acted as ushers.

A short reception was held in the parlor adjoining the auditorium where Dorothy Perkins roses were used in profusion. Mrs. R. E. Dunphy was the inspiration of the decorations, assisted by loving friends of the bride.

During the reception the flower girls and Betty Jane Cooper passed baskets of cake.

The happy couple left for an automobile trip, their destination unannounced. Later they will be in San Francisco where Mr. Blair is completing his medical course at the Affiliated Colleges.

Mrs. Blair is one of Campbell's girls, a graduate of our local schools, and later has taken both her B. A. and M. A. at the U. C., specializing in microscopic diagnosis, in which branch of the medical profession she will be an assistant to her husband in his work.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts evidencing her wide popularity and the best wishes of all go with them.

A number of the bride's relatives from out of town were present at the ceremony.

Merchants should bear in mind that the Commercial Association meetings have been set for the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month. This organization is taking an active part in civic affairs and is now campaigning on a night watchman proposition. LEGION MAN IS AN AUTHOR

"Rainbow Bright" is From the Pen of
Lawrence Stewart of Des Moines;
Also an Artist.

A "buck private" during the World war, Lawrence O. Stewart, American Legion member of Des Moines, is now obtaining recognition as a writer, painter and sculptor.

Stewart is the author of "Rainbow Bright," an informal history of the Forty-second division, with which he served in France as a private in the sanitary detachment of the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Infantry. Illustrations for the book are leaves torn from the sketch book which Stewart carried in his gas mask. They were prepared oftentimes under fire. A preface for the book has been written by Col. E. R. Bennett, who commanded the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Infantry in action.

Stewart is a graduate of the Chicago Art Institute in painting and sculpture.

Lawrence O. Stewart.

and also studied at the Beaux Arts in New York. He was an instructor in painting and modeling at Drake university for a year and a half prior to the war and now has a studio in Des Moines.

His work includes a bronze bust of the late Henry Wallace, father of the present secretary of agriculture. He is now making a bust of Lincoln for the new Abraham Lincoln high school building in Des Moines.

FOR THEIR BUDDIES' GRAVES

Disabled Men in Oteen (N. C.) Hospital Contribute in Remembrance of Fallen Comrades.

Disabled veterans, who have spent long years in an effort to regain their health shattered by World war service, remember their fallen comrades who lie in "Flanders Fields."

Accompanying a tin box containing money for the American Legion's endowment fund to provide for the decoration of the graves of overseas dead, came a note from ex-service men in ward 1-3 of United States hospital at Oteen, N. C., as follows:

"National Treasurer, American Legion:

"Enclosed you will find the mite contributed by the boys of ward 1-3 of this hospital. Each coin dropped into this little box was dropped with the remembrance of the boys who fell, our buddies, and the least we feel we can do is to wish for their graves to be kept green.

And the thought we send across the wave as we lie upon our cot, is to plant upon each far-off grave One sweet forget-me-not.

Proceeds of the Legion's endowment fund will insure that the graves of 32,000 veterans in Europe will be decorated each Memorial day.

HERRICK LAUDS FUND PLAN

Ambassador to France Endorses Legion's Campaign to Provide for Decoration of Graves.

Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, recently wrote American Legion national headquarters in Indianapolis endorsing the Legion's campaign to raise a fund to provide for the decoration of 32,000 graves of war dead overseas each Memorial day.

"This delicate and kindly thought of the American Legion in assuming the responsibility for the appropriate decoration of the graves of the American soldiers in France has received the universal and grateful approval of the families, relatives and friends of its dead comrades," Ambassador Herrick stated. "It is an assurance of permanency and efficiency in the outward remembrance of our honored dead. Also, it is a comforting thought that the graves of our boys who sleep in the fields of France, where they fought and died have become the sacred trust of their living comrades, the Legionnaires."

Similar messages of approval for the campaign have been received by the Legion from General Pershing and Secretary of War Weeks.

An Even Chance.

Hogan was tired of the city and wanted to move out to the great open spaces where men are men and all that sort of thing. Accordingly, he sought information from a friend.

"Clancy," he said, "ye've taken a homestead, so ye know all about it. Will ye be tellin' me th' law about goin' about it?"

"Well," said Clancy, "I'm not atther rememberin' the letter of th' law, but here's what it amounts to. Th' gov'ment is willin' to bet ye wan hundred an' sixty acres of land agin' $14 that ye can't live on it five years without starvin' to death."—American Legion Weekly.

OUR BIRTHDAY

Day by day, we are getting older and with this issue the Press starts on another lap of its life's run. In our few years of management we have seen Campbell make a steady and lasting growth that has reflected much credit on its progressive business men and citizens. The Press has taken its stand for the many good projects accomplished and takes pride in having a share in bringing about their fulfillment. It is the aim of the Press to continue in the good work and it extends its hearty thanks to all who have aided in these campaigns and given the financial and moral support so necessary to the life of a paper. Let us all continue to strive for a larger and better Campbell which we can enjoy and invite others to share with us.

The "Glorious Fourth" is Wednesday and plans are afoot in many places to make the day a big one. Campbell will not celebrate at home but the great majority of our citizens will go elsewhere to help swell the throngs.

Mr. and Mrs. Elyott Tucker and Mrs. Geo. Harris and Miss Myrtle Harris are enjoying a week's vacation at Red Bluff. Leslie Driesback is taking the country route for the Orchard City Market during his absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Yeager went to Alameda Saturday to visit friends. Tuesday and Wednesday Mr. Yeager attended the sessions of the Carrier's Division of the State Postal Conference in San Francisco. Substitute Carrier H. C. Bloom was on the rural route during "Dan's" absence.

A burglar killed while ransacking the home of James Folger at Woodside had in his possession jewelry to the amount of $15,000, which definitely connected him with numerous robberies of wealthy Woodside residents. A diamond pin valued at $2,500 was identified as the property of Mrs. Daniel Jackling, whose home was robbed of more than $8,000 worth of valuables.

Campbell a Business Center

Campbell is growing as a business center. You only need to observe the machines line up at both curbs of our principal business street any time of day, especially in the afternoon, to be convinced.

Our newly paved street is an asset, and there is something else that counts very heavily. It is the convenience of parking. Cars can almost invariably find sufficient space close in; but there is a point even better: NO TIME LIMIT—no worry about the little chalk mark on the wheels!

And then, when you think of it, we have a wonderfully compact business district. You will go far before you will find, anywhere else, so many varieties of business within the same space in blocks. Compact, convenient, and complete.

The heart of any business district is the bank, for here comes and goes the vital fluid of trade, money. So intimately is your banker connected with the business life of the community that not to have a checking account at home is to miss many advantages. Business men and consumers alike need checking accounts at our bank.

Will Sugar Be Lower

SPRECKLES says it will. He points out that Island sugar is now headed in our direction; and we ourselves remember that sugar from Java and other out-of-the-way places, broke the market to splinters about two years ago. At any rate, large holders are feeling shaky. A big jobber has just offered the government several thousand bags on contract at $9.27 — sugar probably bought before prices sky-rocketed.

Still, a drop of a dollar or two wouldn't make the fortune of any consumer; so, from the user's viewpoint, there's not much to gain or lose. Advice? We haven't a bit. We just give you the news as a basis for your own judgment, which may be a heap better than ours. If you buy sugar only as you need it, you'll be with the majority—but that's not advice, mind, it's only news.

FRUIT PRESERVING SUPPLIES bought at Blaine's will all be tested. We are going to open every case of jars and make examination for flaws and breaks. This we'll do before sending them out. The same with jelly glasses and Mason tops. In that way the user's troubles will be reduced to a minimum; but if flaws do get by, we are here to make good with an exchange. Not being super-human, we are not infallible; but we're square.

SQUAT JELLY GLASSES

We like the idea of those wide and low jelly glasses. Don't you? They will mould your jelly prettily, so that it may be tipped out whole for serving an attractive mound of sweet. Then, too, being wide they can be filled readily, making easy work at preserving time. They sell at 50c a dozen. Try them this season.

WORN-OUT PAVEMENTS AND THE TAXPAYER

One of the most vital situations confronting highway commissioners, boards of supervisors, highway engineers, and last but not least, the public, as they finally pay the costs, is that of reconstructing the failing roads and highways built a few years ago either of design insufficient to carry the increased traffic, or of paving materials that lacked in durability.

The vital question is, how shall these highways be reconstructed into wider, durable pavements at a reasonable cost, and without serious interruption of traffic during reconstruction.

A method that has been used in various parts of the Pacific coast with great success is to widen existing pavements by the addition of asphaltic concrete shoulders and resurfacing the entire width with asphalt concrete.

This type of reconstruction has many advantages, the first of which is the very reasonable cost. The old pavement is utilized as a base, that is, the initial investment is to a large extent conserved.

Asphaltic concrete makes an excellent wearing course for any pavement base. Its waterproof qualities prevent seepages of water through the pavement, and eliminate the danger of failure due to wet subgrades. The shock-absorbing qualities of asphaltic concrete tend to minimize the force of impact, thus protecting the base from these destructive qualities.

Long interruptions of traffic are serious matters, especially on main trunk highways, and necessitate the providing of detours. Asphaltic concrete pavements can be opened to traffic as soon as cool, and it is not necessary to detour traffic for more than a few hundred feet around the actual scene of paving operations.

THE HOME PAPER

A few of the reasons why the home folks should support it:
1.—Because when you were born, it was the home paper that introduced you to the world.
2.—When you grew up and graduated the home paper gave you another write up.
3.—When later on you found your life companion and were happily married, the home paper gave you and yours a nice notice.
4.—When sickness and misfortune invaded your home, the sad news was carried to your friends and neighbors by the home paper.
5.—When you had been successful in business venture, or had been promoted, it was the home paper that heralded your ability.
6.—If you sold out or moved to another location the home paper followed with news of friends and neighbors.
7.—When some unscrupulous person tried to injure your character it was the home paper that came to your aid.
8.—Because the home paper boosts your town and its institutions, its people, its schools, its churches and helps to promote good fellowship in the community.
9.—Because the live merchants offer money-saving bargains and encourage you to trade at home.
10.—And last, when you are finally laid away, it is the home paper that prints consoling news of your demise and that extols your virtues so that hearts of those who mourn are made to feel thankful that the home paper stuck by you from the cradle to grave.

THE "INDIRECT TAX" EVIL

Indirect taxation of all the people as a result of special or direct taxes levied against some one line of business is a growing evil in this nation.

A specific illustration is the case of insurance companies in Illinois as pointed out by Attorney C. J. Doyle, of Springfield.

Mr. Doyle says that to obtain the difference between the amount needed for governmental expense and that collected by the general tax levy, each administration, vying with its predecessor to offer the taxpayer a cent or two reduction in the tax rate, levies an "indirect tax" on industry, through assessing special taxes against some one industry.

While more than $3,500,000 was taken from insurance companies for taxes in Illinois last year, he points out, but $108,000 of that amount was allowed to the state insurance department for supervision of insurance, the original object of the tax.

Thus all the people of Illinois taxed indirectly through higher insurance premiums which must be collected to meet the special tax levied on insurance.

But it is an easy way for politicians to dodge the real tax issue until "special taxes" finally become too heavy.

NATION FOUNDED ON INITIATIVE

Individual initiative caused the discovery, settlement and development of America. Columbus found the continent, the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth, Jamestown was settled, our independence was won, and the great west was opened up, all in the face of official opposition and discouragement. It took the vision, courage and enterprise of the individual to accomplish these results. In spite of this record our country is menaced today by a school of politicians who would crush individual enterprise and initiative with a permanent system of paternalism.

American initiative, endurance and enterprise brought the settlers across the continent through deserts and over mountains. The same spirit built the railroads, developed mines and oil wells, strung telephones and electric power lines, opened up giant forests, built ships and, last but not least, conquered the burning desert and made it a garden spot by irrigation. Let us keep this American spirit of initiative ever before us.

ENCOURAGES MINING INDUSTRY

The action of the Colorado legislature in making a liberal appropriation for the carrying on of metallurgical experimentation work at the Goldman School of Mines will offer new encouragement to the mining industry.

Money which a state expends to encourage the development of any of its natural resources will be returned ten-fold and twice ten-fold in resulting community development and expansion of employment.

If every state could eliminate some of the millions which now go for the wasteful overhead burden of government and expend the same sums toward making noticeable the utilization of its natural resources by its own people, prosperity would greatly reduce per capita taxation.

JUST WHAT WE MAKE IT

Some people get tired of this life and just fall asleep, while others hurry the end along with the use of a pistol, knife or a bit of poison. But it's a good old world after all, and it uses most of us as we use it—in short, this life is just what we make it. Most people are satisfied with a fighting chance, while others are satisfied with a chance of fighting.

One good test—

—of the purity and stability of a motor oil is the amount of carbon it forms.

Zerolene forms, on an average, 30% less carbon than other oils. The carbon is soft and fluffy and most of it blows out with the exhaust. For this reason the Zerolene-lubricated automobile may be driven from 25% to 50% farther without having the valves ground or the cylinders rebored.

Zerolene forms less carbon than any other motor oil known to us.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less. Ask for it by name—Zerolene.
